Program Objectives

Nowadays managers are facing complex decisions in an increasingly competitive and dynamic environment characterized by a soaring speed of change.

The Master Program in Management of International Projects (MIP) offers students the knowledge and tools required to attain a superior managerial performance, by providing them with the needed instruments for making the best business decisions.

Built on an optimal combination of disciplines from economics, finance, marketing and strategic management fields, the Program proposes an integrated educational experience by:

- ⇒ Developing decision skills in the field of managing international business projects
- ⇒ Preparing the students for taking on complex managerial responsibilities
- ⇒ Understanding the economic, social and financial forces that influence the planning and decision making process for the management of international projects
- ⇒ Applying theoretical knowledge to effective business circumstances, inherent to the firm's operations in an increasingly competitive global environment
- ⇒ Promoting the exchange of ideas and experiences between students, professors and business experts

A Unique Program

The Master Program in Management of International Projects (MIP) is the only of its kind in Central and Eastern Europe, delivered in English. The students will study an integrated curriculum, focused on the financial decision making process correlated with the development and implementation of international business projects.

Candidate Profile

The candidates in the Master Program will be motivated persons, flexible, open to innovation, wishing to fine-tune their skills, with a good time management and interested in combining their business experience with a theoretical framework. The Program welcomes all the public and private higher education graduates that are interested in developing and managing international business projects. The scheduling of the courses allows the participants to continue their professional activity.

Career Opportunities

The Program prepares the participants for a wide range of positions, both in large, small and medium sized enterprises. We target positions such as:

- ⇒ International project analyst
- ⇒ Project director
- ⇒ Subsidiary/Branch manager
- ⇒ International division manager
- ⇒ International risk manager
- ⇒ Financial industry analyst
- ⇒ Any other managerial position requiring training in the development and implementation of international projects

Graduates Testimonials

The Program has been a great experience for me. The classes are always in a live atmosphere and it is fantastic, especially as you work with people from a wide range of backgrounds. I can sincerely say that this program has exceeded all my expectations, with its well-designed structure, environments and with above-satisfactory backgrounds of instructors.

Erdinc Akbay, Turkey, 2008-2010 Class

I have graduated the International Project Management master program in 2006. The curriculum studied as well as the high quality of the teachers involved in the program proved very useful in strengthening and further developing the theoretical knowledge pool on which I developed my banking and financial advisory career. Moreover the teaching in English feature of this program was a significant asset given that in my work environment approximately 50% of the daily verbal interaction and 70% of the documentation is done in English. I therefore strongly recommend this program for any student looking for a career in the financial field.

Mihai Vasilescu, Romania, 2004-2006 Class

Professors

Professors from the Bucharest University of Economic Studies with training experience in master and MBA programs teach the majority of courses and seminars.

The program benefits from the cooperation of invited professors from Romanian and foreign universities and of business experts, invited as guest-speakers in the Program.

The professors' performance is continuously monitored and improved, one of the tools in this respect being the continuous evaluation of the training activity by the program participants.
